Elliott brings a lot of energy to his job. When he runs out of work, he says you have to ask for more.

A Poem by a Windflower Craft Store Poet

This poem and the poem you can hear on the tape were written by young men with autism, neither of whom speak aloud. These poems appear in this Student's Guide through the generosity of Windflower Craft Store.

I Cried One Night by Rudin

I cried one night
when it was all dark outside.
When no one heard
and my mind
played tag with the wind.
Inside me is a small little voice that only I can hear or so I thought.
Where are the words that others speak that I so want my mouth to say.
Then on my arm a feather fell and I heard a nearby bird.
I lifted up my head.
My heart joined his
and I was not afraid.
